Man, 27, is jailed for attacking court judge

DEBRA FOX

A MAN who attacked a judge and knocked off his wig has been jailed for 18 months.

Fitness instructor Paul Graham, 27, of Quendon Place, Haverhill, was sentenced for contempt of court following the assault on Judge John Devaux at Ipswich Crown Court on Monday.

He was held in cells at the court, before appearing for sentencing on Tuesday, dressed in a black vest and flanked by three security guards.

Judge Devaux had just sentenced his brother, Philip Graham, 30, of the same address, to 30 months in prison for causing death by dangerous driving, when Paul Graham left the public gallery and vaulted over a gate to get behind the judge's bench.

Paul Graham admitted being in contempt of court when he appeared before Judge David Goodin.

The 27-year-old is an applied sports science graduate, who formerly worked as a personal trainer at a gym in Haverhill until about 16 months ago.

Judge Goodin described how police officers in the case had restrained him, before leading

Richard Potts, mitigating, explained that his client did not accept he threw punches at Judge Devaux, but accepted there had been a struggle and that he had behaved in an intimidating manner.

Mr Potts said: "He has instructed me to apologise unreservedly on his behalf.

"He is a physically fit man and had he really wished to do real physical harm, there is no doubt he could have done so.

"It was a spontaneous act borne out of high emotion. It was an outpouring of grief.

"There is going to be a substantial diminution in the family as a result of both brothers being in custody."

Judge Goodin said that the High Sheriff of Suffolk, Sir Edward Greenwell, and a local clergyman who had been sitting alongside Judge Devaux "did their best to bring the attack to an end".

He said: "When the judge had passed the inevitable sentence of imprisonment, you left the public gallery at speed, travelled down the side of the court very fast, vaulted over the wooden gate at the side of the bench, physically attacked Judge Devaux by punches which actually caused no physical injury.

"That conduct was disruptive, insulting and intimidating. It was a contempt of court."

He said: "We have in this country courts which are open to the public, but what you did was an attack on justice, on the administration of justice, an attack on the rule of law.

"Any violent physical attack on the judge or any member of court staff or officer of the court must be dealt with severely."

■ Philip Graham was found guilty of causing the death of father-of-two Derek Foster when his car hit the victim's motorcycle in July last year.

OUTSTANDING: Children and staff at Blois Meadow Day Nursery celebrate their Ofsted report

Picture by David Johnson

Outstanding seal of approval for nursery

A DAY nursery has been awarded an Outstanding Ofsted report, less than eight months after it opened.

Blois Meadow Day Nursery, in Steeple Bumpstead, has been hailed as a safe, nurturing and exemplary environment by Ofsted inspectors.

The highly skilled staff have been praised for their work in helping children flourish and make quick progress in their learning and skills.

Alison Midgley and her husband Ross, from Hempstead, took over the nursery at Blois Meadow Business Centre in October last year.

Alison, a qualified early years teacher, was the original founder of the Crocus group of nurseries, all of which achieved Outstanding Ofsted results.

The Midgleys sold Crocus in 2007 and set up an early years training company, PBD, which is based at Blois Meadow Business Centre, Steeple Bumpstead, and trains 500 nursery staff each year across the UK.

Taking over another nursery was not part of the couple's grand plan.

DEBRA FOX

Ross said: "We had no plans to go back to running nurseries, but coincidentally this one relocated from Ashdon to Steeple Bumpstead in 2011.

"When its owners put it up for sale a year later, the challenge was too much to resist."

When the couple took over in October, Alison got to work by making major changes to the building, staff and training.

Ross said: "Getting an outstanding grade from Ofsted is hard enough at any time. But to turn round a struggling nursery to outstanding in just eight months is an astonishing achievement. I'm really proud of her."

The inspection, which took place on May 21, judged the nursery as Outstanding in every area, with the only suggested improvement being to extend children's outdoor learning and play by allowing them to move freely between the indoor and outdoor areas.

Ofsted Inspector Sarah Clements singled out the nursery's provision of spectacular care for babies, as well as their dedication to providing healthy snacks and meals for nursery children.

An afternoon of fun and activities is planned to celebrate the report, taking place on June 22 from 10am until 2pm.

Alison said: "We will be having an open day party for existing and prospective parents and their children."

"There will be face painting, children's games, an entertainer and healthy, delicious food for parents and children to try. Everyone is welcome, please come along and see the nursery for yourself."

Mobile cinema rolls into town

A MOBILE cinema pulled up in town as part of a whistle stop tour across four counties.

The vintage 22-seater 1960's cinema arrived in Haverhill Market Square on Monday where it spent the afternoon entertaining people with archive films of the town and surrounding areas.

One of the films shown to Haverhill residents was shot from the church tower in the 1960s, and looked down onto the Market Square itself.

Jane Jarvis, Digital Heritage project manager, said: "It has been an ongoing project for about two and a half years and we wanted to showcase a lot more films by getting them digitalised.

"It shows the history, and social history and we're covering the areas as much as we can."

The vehicle started its tour of Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex and Cambridgeshire on June 2 in Clacton.

It also visited Colchester, Harlow, Ely and Cambridge, and will finish its journey in Kings Lynn on June 10.

Driver, 30, jailed for causing fatal crash

A DRIVER who killed a motorcyclist in his car has been jailed for two-and-a-half years.

Philip Graham, 30, of Quendon Place, Haverhill, was sentenced to 30 months in jail at Ipswich Crown Court on Monday, June 3.

Graham, who pleaded not guilty to the charge of causing death by dangerous driving, was in his Ford Focus when he overtook another vehicle and collided with a motorbike.

Derek Foster, 37, of Winstanley Road, Saffron Walden was killed in the crash, which happened on the B1054 at Hempstead in July of last year.

Officers from the Essex Police Serious Collision Investigation Unit discovered that the crash happened at a blind dip in the road.

They said that Mr Foster had no time to react as the fast-moving car approached him on the wrong side of the road.

Graham, who was found guilty by a jury earlier this year, has been banned from driving for three years and also ordered to take an extended driving test before getting back his licence.

Insp Keith Whiting, spoke of Graham's actions on the day, saying that he decided to overtake at a point where he knew there was a dip in the road.

This stopped him from seeing Mr Foster on approach.

Insp Whiting said: "This sentence will give Mr Graham time to reflect on his actions last year and the impact those actions have had on Mr Foster's family.

"Mr Foster was travelling to work on his motorcycle having just said goodbye to his wife and two small girls.

"This is another case where a person of previous good character faces prison having killed someone on the roads of Essex. I hope other drivers take notice of these tragic events, take more care on the road and show the right level of considerations to other road users, including drivers, riders and pedestrians.

"Our thoughts remain with Rachael Foster and her family."

Graham, an employment consultant, claimed that he had not been hurrying as he drove from his home in Haverhill to Audley End station to catch a train to work in London on the day of the collision.

Graham Brown, defending, told the court on Monday that since his conviction, the 30-year-old was a "changed character" who had not tried to minimise his actions and acknowledged the seriousness of the offence.

Sentencing him, Judge John Devaux said: "You knew the road well as you used it daily and there was light rain which demanded extra caution and not less.

"Nothing this court can do can restore the position to before that day in July last year."

After Judge Devaux passed the sentence, Graham's brother Paul Graham, 27, leapt from the public gallery and assaulted the judge, pulling at his robes and knocking off his wig.

He was detained by court security and held in the cells overnight. He was sentenced to 18 months in jail for contempt of court on Tuesday.

OPEN DAY: The garden at Little Thurlow Hall

Spend your summer Sundays in the garden

TWO beautiful gardens are opening their grounds for a good cause this weekend.

Horringer Hill House, in Bury St Edmunds and Little Thurlow Hall, Haverhill, will both host open garden events on Sunday, June 9, to raise money for the British Red Cross.

Both gardens will be open from 1pm until 5pm, giving guests the chance to explore the acres of landscape and purchase a refreshment from a range of homemade teas or take home a plant from the collection.

Gardeners will be on site to answer questions and information about British Red Cross services in Haverhill and Suffolk will also be available to take home.

There are six acres of landscaped gardens with herbaceous borders and shrubberies, canals and lakes and woodland walks to explore in the grounds of Little Thurlow Hall, which is reopening in honour of supporting the charity.

The gardens at Horringer Hill House are partially divided into rooms, including an Italianate terrace and Victorian style rose and lilac walk. Each open garden held by the British Red Cross raises approximately £1,000 for the charity. This money could pay for four new wheelchairs for local medical loans services, or 40 hours of home from hospital care. For more information visit www.redcross.org.uk/opengarden

Family appeals to find pet cat

A MUM-OF-TWO has told the Weekly News how desperate her family are for their cat to come home.

Misty went missing during the night of Sunday, June 2, after the family dog destroyed the cat flap.

The two family cats went outside, but the family's white cat Macy was found in the garden on Monday morning, having not strayed far.

However, there was no sign of Misty.

Lyndsey Harrison, 34, of Osprey Road, Haverhill, said the family moved to their new home on Friday, May 31.

She believes that Misty, who is grey all over with no markings and no collar, may be trying to find her way back to the old house in Castle Lane.

Lyndsey said: "All she normally does is sit in the garden, and that's why it's quite unusual for her to be missing. She doesn't know where she is.

APPEAL: Misty has been missing since Sunday

"She's very friendly and if she's called she will go over for a fuss. I just hope she's safe."

Lyndsey lives with husband Kevin, 35, and sons Kyle, seven, and Rhys, four.

She said Kyle was devastated by Misty's disappearance, while four-year-old Rhys didn't fully understand what was happening.

If anyone has seen Misty, who is 13 and twitches her tail when her name is called, please get in contact as soon as possible to reunite her with her family.

Call Lyndsey on 07867688938 or Kevin on 07772302709.

Police chief to focus on speeding

SUFFOLK'S Police and Crime Commissioner is determined to tackle the problem of speeding.

Commissioner Tim Passmore explained that speeding and speed enforcement is the hot topic up and down the county with some people fiercely in favour of strict monitoring and guidelines and others in equally strong opposition.

He said: "Speeding is a subject which clearly splits public opinion. It is an issue that comes up regularly as I speak to people across the county and it dominates my mail bag."

On May 31, a speeding survey was launched to try and get to grips with the scope of problem, which Mr Passmore says is a difficult one to call but a necessary task to undertake.

He said: "Speeding enforcement is a highly emotive and complex issue. Both myself and our new Chief Constable Douglas Paxton are genuinely interested in hearing the views on speeding enforcement and I encourage everyone to complete the survey.

"This is a major activity to test public opinion and the results will help me to better understand the views of the general public. As soon as the results are available, the Chief Constable and I will use the information to help us shape the Constabulary's future approach to speeding enforcement."

Visit www.suffolk-pcc.gov.uk to complete the survey throughout June.

Call out for recruits to join the team of firefighters

ROLLING out a hose reel, spraying water at high pressure, strolling around in full fire kit and a gas mask, and cutting off a car door are things I don't tend to do on Wednesday evenings.

But the team at Linton fire station have to keep on top of their skills at drill night every week to ensure they are in tip-top shape when called upon in an emergency.

I joined them to find out more about what they do and who they are, as they look forward to a recruitment campaign this Saturday.

The Balsham Road base is currently home to station commander Steve Elve and his team of 10 on-call firefighters – all of whom must live within five miles of the station.

But the close-knit team needs another eight men or women as fully-trained professionals, saving lives in their communities alongside their day jobs and home lives, to take their number to the optimum level.

Lee Allen is currently watch commander and when not receiving an alert on his pager is an electrician, living in The Grove, Linton.

The 38-year-old said: "We have a great team here with four new recruits but our aim is to build up our availability."

"If we have a full crew available – a minimum of four with the correct skill sets – then we can respond to emergencies around the clock."

"But if not, then crews have to attend from the nearest station where that is the case."

As part of my taster I was first kitted up by Steve and lined up with my colleagues for the night.

Architect Alan Baker quipped: "We dressed for

A fire station looking for more numbers invited Weekly News reporter ADAM LUKE along to get a feel for the job and he found the various drills a lot tougher than they look.

the occasion. You could have had a shave!"

First up was a look in the fire engine, before picking up increasingly heavy hose reels and dashing across the yard with them towards the 'fire' to roll them out.

Steve said: "That's okay but I really wouldn't carry that between your legs."

Noted.

Next up was the chance to spray water at various pressures which was a lot of fun, but things became more serious when I was given a talk about road traffic collisions.

The majority of calls the Linton crew attends are car crashes, not fires. Last month these firefighters were called to West Wrattling where Bradley Gamble, 20, had died in his Honda Civic.

Alan said: "There are difficult times in this job but all you can do is do everything you can to save lives."

"We also support each other very well and there is a real bond between us all."

I was shown how to smash a car window in no more than a second and I had a go at cutting off a car door.

Seeing and hearing about the need for such specialist cutting equipment firsthand was certainly a sobering experience.

I was then led back into the station where Seb Croot suited me up with a gas mask and cylinder.

As I firstly breathed in normal air through a vent and then oxygen from the canister – a bizarre sensation for someone who has never been scuba diving – I chatted to the 27-year-old about why he became an on-call firefighter nine months ago.

He said: "My wife is training to be a midwife and I left my previous job to look after the kids."

"I decided to apply here to do something that I could fit around being a house-husband and it works great. I was welcomed and made to fit in straight away."

"It is also great to give something back to the community, of which we are a big part."

On-call crew members are asked to provide times when they will be available for service at evening, daytime or weekends. They receive an annual wage to reflect the time they commit plus additional payments for attending drill nights and incidents.

Steve said: "People won't know whether it is for them until they try it. Come along to the open day, have a chat with the crew and we can talk through the requirements."

"I have had some really good times in this job – I have done things and seen things and been places I would never have otherwise."

The evening ended for me with a climb of the ladder and then a nice cuppa.

Recruitment open day is on Saturday from 10am to 3pm, when people can drop in and find out more about becoming an on-call firefighter. For more information, visit www.cambsfire.gov.uk/recruitment or call (01480)

ROLL CALL: Adam Luke, far right, pictured with Linton Fire Station crew after trying out various drills and hearing about their recruitment campaign.

Scouts scrub up and tidy school's courtyard

THE TEAM: Scouts rolled up their sleeves to transform the courtyard area at Burton End school

A SCOUT group have thrown themselves into a national campaign by doing their bit to help a nearby school.

The Colne Valley Triad Explorer Scout Unit, who meet on Colne Valley Road, Haverhill, took part in Community Week, held every year by the scouting movement, to transform the courtyard at Burton End Community Primary School.

Their hard work was celebrated in an open evening held at the school on Tuesday, which was attended by newly elected mayor and school governor Cllr Roger André. Leader Debbie Hodges said: "I am extremely pleased with all who took part. They all put in a lot of effort to turn the courtyard into a fantastic useable space. I hope that all the children of Burton End school will find great enjoyment in using it and that the Explorers feel proud to have achieved such a transformation."

Debbie also thanked B&Q and Field Ltd for the donations that helped them complete the project.

Dismay over empty shop in Jubilee Walk

AN EMPTY shop in the thick of Haverhill's shopping area is disappointing shoppers throughout the town.

The abandoned unit on Jubilee Walk, which was formerly the Co-op until it closed in 2011, has been branded a waste of space by local shoppers who are sad to see another premises fall by the wayside.

The building, which is owned by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, is leased to the Co-op but the current lease is not due to end until 2076.

Town clerk Will Austin said local people were fed up that the empty shop has not yet been put into use.

He said: "The Co-op say they are actively marketing the building. I have written to them on a number of occasions recently to ask about progress. In March they told me that they were in negotiation with a national retail operator."

"They also said they had previously had the premises under offer to two food national operators and two national discount operators but ultimately they rejected the site."

DEBRA FOX

It is thought that a main problem discouraging buyers from the site is the lack of free parking for shoppers.

Newly appointed mayor Cllr Roger André said the nearby supermarkets, such as Aldi and Tesco, benefit from free parking and that this is where the former Co-op falls short.

He said empty units were "exactly what the area does not need", especially at a time when everything was being done to revitalise Haverhill's High Street.

He said: "People don't need to be seeing the derelict premises. The old Co-op was connected to the high volume stores, and connected them with the high street.

"We need people walking past the shops."

A spokesperson for the Co-operative Estates said the premises on Jubilee Walk were currently undergoing work to repair damage caused by vandals, both inside and outside the shop unit.

The said: "In the past there has been considerable interest in the premises and we are currently in negotiations with a national operator interested in acquiring it."

A council spokesperson, who explained local support is key for new businesses, said: "Thriving town centres are part and parcel of our top priority of ensuring economic growth."

"Haverhill's high street has much to offer local shoppers and we are working with all our partners to encourage more people to support these businesses, for example with free after three on Fridays car parking."

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

ARE YOU SADDENED BY THE SIGHT OF THE EMPTY SHOP?

Is the lack of parking a problem?

Poignant film recalls horrific times

THIS year is the 40th anniversary of General Pinochet's bloody coup that overthrew the democratically elected government of President Salvador Allende.

During his rule, it is believed that 1,100 people were forcibly disappeared, more than 2,000 were unlawfully killed and several thousands were tortured by the military forces.

Next week, the film No will be shown at Haverhill Arts Centre; it is the story of peaceful opposition which eventually led to the end of the regime.

Gael García Bernal, the star of the film, said: "There is a lack of justice still. Pinochet, for example, never went into a court house. He was never tried. He died with millions of dollars in a United States bank account."

"Hundreds of people are still awaiting justice for the human rights abuses committed against them."

Helping the children

THE Children's Trust is celebrating Volunteers' Week (June 1-7) by saying thank you to the fantastic work of the 520 people throughout the UK who have selflessly given up an amazing 120,763 hours this past year for the charity.

They have helped in so many different ways, from giving support during children's therapy sessions, helping organise fundraising events throughout the country and volunteering in our charity shops.

The Trust is a national charity providing care and therapy for severely disabled children from all over the UK.

We are always keen to hear from anyone interested in volunteering. Please visit www.thechildrenstrust.org.uk/ volunteer or call Rachel Turner, Voluntary Services Manager on 01737 365002.

MEMORIES: Andrew Allen is pictured on the far left, standing, in the picture above, and standing on the climbing frame in the photo below

A look back in time to Clare Primary School

FORMER pupils of the old primary school in Clare, Suffolk, can take a trip down memory lane with these old photographs brought in to the Weekly News by a reader.

Andrew Allen, 59, of Eden Road, Haverhill, discovered the photographs of his school days when sorting through some family heirlooms.

Andrew, pictured standing on the climbing frame facing forward in one shot, and far left standing up in the class portrait, wondered what had become of his old school mates.

He believes the photos were taken by his parents in the early 60s when he was nine, and he did not know they existed until recently. Andrew, who attended the school from age five to 11, said: "I'm really interested in the history of Clare and I'm going to donate these pictures to an archive because it would be nice to keep them for posterity."

He plans to give the photos to The Foxearth and District Local History Society where they can be kept and shared with future generations.

The 59-year-old hopes that other students from the school may be inspired to submit their own photographs or get in touch too. He said: "Maybe others in the picture will be moved to get in contact and if they have got their own old photographs then they can donate them as well." Do you have an old photograph you would like to share? Contact us at the Weekly News.

U3A Patient Choice at Addenbrooke's Hospital

Debbie Morgan's job as Director of Commissioning has put her into a key position regarding the subject of patient choice at Addenbrooke's Hospital.

She did manage to avoid the searing heat of raw political controversy provoked by the mere mention to the NHS, by outlining changes recently made in the management structures affecting patients and health professionals in the area of Cambridge and West Suffolk covered by "NHS England", however, in these early days of change, she lacked the conviction of benefits actually achieved, but did throw some important light on the efficient use of new resources available to health professionals for the primary benefit of every patient in the system.

Debbie started working at Addenbrooke's in 1993 as a Psycho Geneticist and has seen a good few structural changes there, on average a re-organisation every seven years as clinical services increased. Under the new scheme, largely formulated by Health Secretary, Andrew Lansley, the Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs) work closely with patients and GPs to provide comprehensive medical care, and social after-care to reverse escalating, non-integrated, caring costs, and this should be seen to provide a "Better, Fitter and Smarter" care profile for patients.

A show of hands confirmed that most of us had had treatment at Addenbrooke's at some time, and Debbie was asked to answer a variety of questions relating to people's experiences.

A number of disturbing anecdotes emerged indicating that "Book and choose" and other procedures have yet to be understood for them to run as smoothly as envisaged by "NHS England". Complex issues requiring individual solutions will require a great deal of dedicated good-will coupled with continuing professionalism.

The next meeting, on a lighter note, will be a talk by Chris Grady about the Theatre Royal in Bury St Edmunds. New members will be especially welcomed at the Arts Centre on 25 June starting at 10.30 am.

A TABLE top sale was held in Chalkland's communal room on May 25. There were also refreshments. The money raised will be used to pay for the Friendship Club's Christmas lunch in December.

The annual safari supper will be held at St Mary's church on July 5 this year, starting at Richmonds in the High Street. Tickets from Monica Clarkson: 892988.

A Christian Aid collection was held in Linton between May 12-18 and this raised £2,961.07. One in eight people in the world go to bed hungry each day. Christian Aid delivers aid where needed, helping to provide land to grow crops etc.

There will be a Hops and Grapes Hog Roast at the village college on July 13. There will be beer from local breweries and wine and a live band, Crimson Shadow. Proceeds are for the school hall refurbishment. Tickets from Charlotte Foster: 890270.

Linton music societies meeting featured Instant Sunshine, a group of three dinner jacketed men singing their own original humorous songs, gently mocking the British way of life. It was a well-attended and enjoyable evening.

GREAT HONOUR: Roger André has been elected the new town mayor and Cllr Maureen Byrne is his deputy.

Town's new mayor gets ready for work

HAVERHILL's new mayor and deputy mayor are ready to get down to business as they begin their 12-month service to the town.

Town councillors elected Cllr Roger André as mayor and Cllr Maureen Byrne as his deputy at the ceremonial mayor making on Tuesday, May 28.

Cllr André told the Weekly News that the new positions have not been taken up lightly.

He said: "It's a great honour to be the mayor for Haverhill and we see it very much as a job and not a reward or appointment."

"It's a job representing Haverhill to the outer community."

Cllr André said that as leader of the town council, he intends to work hard to address the needs of the town and not look on his position as a ceremonial role.

The new mayor said that a primary focus will be to involve young people in what promises to be an important year.

Haverhill's community budget plan was to be revealed today and Cllr André told that the budget is targeted at providing better opportunities for young people and improving the physical environment in the town.

ronment in the town.

Cllr André, who has been a member of the town council since 2011 and served as deputy from 2012, took up the post of mayor from Cllr Pat Hanlon.

Cllr Byrne also served as mayor in 2011. Town clerk Will Austin praised the appointments and said that he too, would be working hard alongside the mayor and deputy.

He said: "I am pleased to see that two very hard-working local councillors have been elected as mayor and deputy mayor of Haverhill."

"I look forward to working closely with them both over the next year and pushing forward some of the issues we still need to address."

"We need to focus on the future of the high street to be able to achieve improvements for Haverhill."

The mayor told how the declining high street and surrounding shopping area is a serious problem and concern to residents of the town.

The former Co-op on Jubilee Walk, which has been empty since 2011, is only one of the units causing an unwelcome image for Haverhill.

Cllr André explained that the view of empty shops is an off-putting one, and something that is encouraging more visitors to the high volume supermarkets as opposed to smaller local retailers.

He said: "I am enthusiastic for the development of Haverhill town centre as a popular shopping venue."

"The success of our town centre is vital for the planned growth of our town and for the opportunities it provides for our young people – not least the employment and training opportunities."

"Our High Street is coping with changes in retail expectations more successfully than many others – nevertheless there is more we can do as a community to support our local services."

The mayor has chosen his charities for the next 12 months and has revealed to the Weekly News that three projects will be receiving funds this year.

REACH Community Project Haverhill Foodbank will receive 50 per cent of the money, while Lamp'H and Gateway, who provide opportunities for people with disabilities, will receive 25 per cent each.

Save an endangered snow leopard with sponsorship

LINTON Zoo has partnered with The Snow Leopard Trust to help save the animals in the wild.

The endangered snow leopard is found in the rugged mountains of Central Asia, but only 4,000 to 6,500 remain in the wild.

The Trust was founded in 1981 and is the world's leading authority on the study and protection of the creatures.

Linton Zoo, home to a pair of snow leopard called Lhamo and Centurio, has signed up to the organisation's National Partnership Programme - which helps find solutions to poaching, loss of habitat through farming and mining, and the lack of funding to help. Better broadband on the way for everyone in Suffolk

A WEBSITE will help internet users discover when they can up their speed.

The website, jointly-created by Suffolk County Council and BT as part of the Better Broadband for Suffolk programme, will provide regular updates on improved coverage as well as a host of other features, including a line checker and interactive map.

Councillor Mark Bee, Suffolk County Council's leader and chair of the Better Broadband for Suffolk programme, said: "Initial planning and survey work is well underway and we're now heading into the delivery phase of the Better Broadband for Suffolk programme."

"So I'm delighted to be able to share with people more details about when and where faster broadband will be rolled out."

www.betterbroadbandsuffolk.com was launched on May 29 at the Suffolk Show.

All the fun of the Great Wratting fete

PARENTS and children basked in the sunshine at this year's annual Great Wratting Fete.

The celebrations, which lasted all afternoon on Saturday, June 1, had something for the whole family including a choice of refreshments and entertainment.

Haverhill's Silver Band provided the soundtrack to the sunny day, where visitors could take their pick from afternoon tea or refreshing Pimms and browse the stalls to look for a coveted bargain.

All money raised from the event is going towards repairing and restoring a piece of the village's history.

Great Wratting's St Mary's Church, which is a Grade II listed building, is in urgent need of help and it is hoped that the funds will go a long way to fixing the building's roof.

'We need a new vision for the town's future'

A NEWLY-elected county councillor has revealed to the Weekly News that he plans to campaign to bring a better vision for the community to Haverhill.

Cllr Tony Brown, who has recently taken up the post of county councillor for Haverhill East and Kedington, has said that the current Vision 2031 plan for the town is not suited to what the people want or need.

The UKIP councillor is starting a petition to highlight the issues, which he hopes to present to St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Suffolk County Council in the coming weeks.

He believes the public will get behind his protest to help bring new ideas to the town.

Cllr Brown said: "It's trying to get the people of Haverhill to have more of a decision in the 2031 vision. "Currently, it doesn't show a lot of vision and does much of the same we have had for 40 years."

The councillor explained that the current plan doesn't show enough development for the town, which he believes is in desperate need of a revamp in some areas.

He singled out the high street, which has been the same since 1970, despite the influx of people now living in Haverhill, and the need for railway links between the town and Cambridge.

Cllr Brown said: "They are not thinking outside of the box and I'm doing the petition to highlight that fact. We definitely need a new railway of some sort because the roads struggled with 10,000 people and it's now 27,000 people.

"It's a big dose of housing and nothing much more than that."

The councillor continued to say that UKIP gaining two of the three county seats in Haverhill is a sign of winds of change.

Cllr Brown said: "One of the reasons we got voted in is that people are pretty fed up with the way that the town has been going for quite a long time."

If you're interested in getting involved in the petition contact ukip-haverhill@outlook.com

A period of public consultation for the final submission drafts of the Vision 2031 documents will run from June 18 to August 9.

Man admits stealing laptops from school

A BUILDING worker who stole six laptop computers from a school has been given a suspended sentence at Ipswich Crown Court.

Alexander Hazel, 22, had been working on a refurbishment contract at the Stour Valley Community School, Cavendish Road, Clare.

In August 2012, Hazel accessed a temporary building where the computers were being stored.

He left six of them outside before coming back to retrieve them with an accomplice, Darren Oakley, 21. The pair were arrested on the evening of August 23.

Michael Crimp, prosecuting,

DEBRA FOX

said the school's caretaker had seen the men, one holding a bag, sitting near one of the portable buildings being used during the building work. Three of the laptops, worth an estimated £1,806 altogether, have still not been recovered.

Judge David Goodin said: "I have about as much sympathy for you as you had for your victims; your victims being the children returning from their holidays to find your dishonesty."

Hazel and Oakley were sentenced to six months in prison, suspended for two years, and each has each been ordered to complete 180 hours of unpaid community work. They must also pay £903 compensation to the school and £200 towards the cost of the prosecution.

Hazel, of Weir Place, Kirton, near Felixstowe, pleaded guilty to the burglary while Oakley, of St Mary's Crescent, Felixstowe, pleaded guilty to handling stolen property.

Roger Thomson, mitigating, said Hazel, who had dyslexia and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, had been "opportunistic" when he decided to take the computers.

Back to the 70s for a musical festival treat

THE platform shoes, the dusty flares and the neon make-up will most definitely be back in fashion later this month when the swinging 70s set up camp in Haverhill.

As part of the Haverhill Festival, which starts on June 13, visitors can enjoy an evening of the peppiest pop with a show dedicated to the diamonds of the glory decade.

The Supersonic 70s show will be performed on June 21 at Haverhill Arts Centre, starting at 7.30pm.

Delve back to your disco days and enjoy some smash hits from the back catalogues of Abba, T-Rex and ELO, and try not to swoon too much over the David Cassidy tribute.

Tickets are £16.50 and available from www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk or from the Box Office 01440 714140.

DISCO: Revisit the funky and soulful decade with tributes to your favourite hits from the famous pop pin-ups

Community budget to be unveiled today

THE community budget for Haverhill was set to be revealed today (Thursday).

The meeting was scheduled to take place at Haverhill Arts Centre, starting at 10.15am.

The town was selected to take part in a pilot programme to focus on developing neighbourhood communities.

Twelve places have been chosen overall.

The Haverhill Community Budget will set out to achieve change for the town, but is to be focused on two areas.

It is hoped that the budget will enable better opportunities for young people to be created throughout the town, a vision shared by newly-appointed town mayor Cllr Roger André.

Check our website for updates
haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

He said: "This is an important year where we will be launching our community budget and that's targeted on young people and improvement."

The second aim for the budget is to improve the physical environment of the town – with decisions made by local people.

The negotiations between residents and all local businesses will combine for the good of Haverhill and help other developments for the future to be put into motion.

Resources which have already been allocated to the town will be used in a way that local people wish to see. The pilot scheme, launched by the Government, gives the town the chance to move forward for the good of its inhabitants.

See www.haverhillweeklynews.co.uk and next week's Weekly News on June 13 for more.

Popular arts event returns to town for another year

THE highlight of Haverhill's cultural year is almost here – and it promises to be the biggest event yet.

Haverhill Festival, which runs from June 13 until June 30, is once again jam-packed with everything from family fun sessions to highlights from the golden years and entertainment from local talent.

DEBRA FOX

The event, which is now hailed as one of Suffolk's largest festivals, brings in visitors and performers in droves every year.

International musicians, dancers and other artists are welcomed to the town for the fortnight long extravaganza.

Whether hits from the 60s and 70s take your fancy, or it's a flashback to the beauty of Jennifer Grey and Patrick Swayze in a Dirty Dancing tribute that you would like to see, the 18-day event can provide it all and more.

As well as performances on stage and screen, the younger town members can enjoy their own events with a wide variety of shows for budding thespians and outdoor slots to enjoy the summer weather.

Image Musical Theatre's The Wind in the Willows is taking place on Saturday, June 15, at 2.30pm and is one of the productions to bring the best of family theatre to the town.

Younger audience members are invited to play the part of some of the favourite woodland animals and all audience members can join in with the popular songs.

There is also a bug hunt for toddlers scheduled for opening day from 10am, in East Town Park.

The festivities will also spill out into the streets with a fun day to be held on

Castle Playing Field on June 22 and a street festival on Haverhill High Street on the penultimate day from 10.30am, when weird and wonderful performers of every discipline will take over the streets.

Visitors, guests and performers can see the festival out in style side by side with a grand Last Night of the Proms-style event to be held at the Independent Church on Sunday, June 30, from 7.30pm.

The traditional farewell, organised by Haverhill Operatic Society and Haverhill Silver Band, is a fantastic finale that's not to be missed.

Big spender, 23, ends up in prison

He stole £28k from employer

FAILURE to comply with a suspended sentence has landed a big spender some jail time.

Joseph Dacus, 23, stole more than £28,000 from Cash Converters in 2012 so he could keep up with the spending habits and costly lifestyle of his friends.

The 23-year-old, of Westward Deals, Kedington, pleaded guilty to theft from an employer last December and was handed a 16-month prison sentence suspended for two years, on the condition he completed 200 hours of unpaid work.

Ipswich Crown Court heard that Dacus completed only 28 hours of his required time, and also failed to keep appointments with the probation service.

During Dacus' court appearance last year, investigators revealed that he was spending more than he earned on taxi fares from his home to the job, in Bury St Edmunds.

It also emerged that he had

failed to record the true price he obtained for items sold by Cash Converters and had pocketed the difference.

Judge John Devaux sentenced Dacus to 14 months in prison, after taking into account the unpaid work the 23-year-old had completed.

He said the 23-year-old was responsible for his own predicament.

Duncan O'Donnell, defending, told the court that Dacus had moved into a shared house for the first time and had tried to keep pace with the spending of others.

He had spent the money on socialising with friends, buying designer clothes and jewellery.

Mr O'Donnell said: "He simply could not afford that lifestyle."

"He is a young man who has stumbled into criminality of this nature without realising the seriousness of what he was doing."

Building up

THE duty manager of Abbeycroft Leisure Centre in Haverhill will compete in the British Natural Bodybuilding Federation Southern Junior Championships later this month.

Wes Purkiss, 20, pictured above, has been bodybuilding for three years and hopes to claim the title on June 23.

NEED A DRINK AFTER WORK?: You don't have to be on a park bench to be alcohol dependent.

Be aware of the dangers of alcohol

HELLO, my name is John and I'm an alcoholic. These are words that are spoken countless times every day in AA meetings all over the planet. What is an alcoholic? The answer varies depending on where you look, but one of the most popular definitions is: 'A person who drinks alcoholic substances habitually and to excess or who suffers from alcoholism.'

The World Health Organisation estimates there to be some 140 million alcoholics worldwide – and that alcohol is the world's third largest risk factor for premature death.

I think that this is probably an underestimate. Why? Because of the incalculable number of people who, as you read this, are alcohol-dependent and don't even know it. You may be one of them, I know I was.

Even when I began to realise I had a problem with alcohol I didn't stop drinking.

As my alcoholism progressed and started to have major effects on my life, my health and my finances, and I began to encounter the medical profession, hospitals, detox units and rehabs because of it, I still didn't stop drinking. I didn't stop because I refused to believe I was an alcoholic. This is common among all addicts. The notion that we can quit whenever we like – that there is really nothing wrong with the way we are behaving – is what kills so many of us.

If you are somebody who needs a drink every night when you get home after a hard day at work, because you find yourself unable to relax without it, then you are probably alcohol-dependent. The amount you drink is really irrelevant. If you need it then you are dependent.

You don't have to be on a park bench on Jesus Green, Cambridge, in a dirty raincoat with a bottle or a can hidden in your pocket, to be alcohol dependent. Most alcoholics are not found on the streets, but at home with a couple of six packs or a bottle of wine to unwind

John Newton believes he was addicted to alcohol after his very first drink – aged just 14. It dominated his life for years to come but, just as his body was about to give out, rehab saved him. The recovering alcoholic has just written his second book on the subject – and says addiction to alcohol is far more prevalent than we think.

in the evening. Between 70 and 80 per cent of all addicts get up and go to work every day; they are not homeless, in jail or destitute. Anyone can become alcohol dependent and not only wouldn't you know it, neither would they.

Alcoholism is subtle and insidious; it creeps up on you like a thief in the night and takes everything you have and everything you are. The chances are you won't even see it coming and by the time you do figure it out, your life will already be spiralling out of control.

Some people call alcoholism a disease (it was officially recognised as such by the American Medical Association in 1991) and others think there may be a gene responsible for addictive behaviour. Wouldn't that be nice? Yet more excuses for all the alcoholics and drug users to fall back on.

For me, the jury is still out on these issues. Although we addicts like to think we are not responsible for our own addictions, in the cold light of day and with the benefit of years of sobriety, I firmly believe that we are.

Nobody poured the booze down my neck. Nobody held a gun to my head and forced me to consume large amounts of alcohol on a daily basis for the majority of my adult life. I and I alone did that. I drank too much for too long and I got addicted – that's the only truth I know.

The World Health Organisation estimates that 2.5 million people die worldwide as a direct result of alcohol. That is far more than all the deaths from all other drugs put together. It is said that alcoholism is the only 'disease' that convinces the sufferer that they don't have it and while I'm not convinced about the term 'disease', the rest is definitely true.

When alcoholism is approaching its terrible worst, what the alcoholic really wants more than anything are two things. The first is to be normal, to be able to drink with impunity like everybody else. The second is to have alcohol do to him what it does to others, to make him merry and jolly.

Neither of these things is possible, nor will ever be possible again for the alcoholic. But many will pursue them in a vain effort to relive all the good times they had with alcohol; some people will pursue them all the way to death itself. If not checked, then alcoholism is always fatal, it is a terminal condition as deadly as any cancer. The only way out is complete abstinence. I am now in my tenth year of sobriety, but I remain an alcoholic. I can never drink alcohol again if I wish to stay well. When writing about alcoholism I will always emphasize this point. Alcoholism is for life, there is no cure, only a reprieve one day at a time. It is so important to understand this point. Too many people will spend a considerable amount of time in sobriety and come to the conclusion they are cured. I did it many times only to find my life disappear back down the proverbial pan once again.

POWERFUL DRUG: John Newton says binge drinking is especially dangerous.

Alcoholic's Tale, published three years ago, tells of alcoholism at its miserable final stages. It tells of the darkness and despair that alcoholism brings; of demon hallucinations and of debilitating sickness.

My second – and most recent – book, Roaring Drunk: An Idiot's Guide on Becoming an Alcoholic, is possibly more important because it tells how I got there. It describes a series of events picked at random throughout my life which maybe should have rung some very loud alarm bells for me, but unfortunately didn't. From the age of 14, when I had my first drink of alcohol, to the age of 50, when I entered rehab for the last time, it describes patterns of behaviour and ways of thinking that led me on a path of self-destruction that I didn't see coming until it was almost too late.

The main purpose of the book is to show that actually, there was nothing too unusual about the way I was behaving. Many people I knew were doing the same thing. In the pub every night, drinking to excess on a daily basis, yet functioning; going to work with nothing more than the occasional hangover and thinking there was nothing wrong with this behaviour.

The thing that frightens me now is the huge number of potential alcoholics that are out there as I'm sitting typing this piece. They may be in the pub every night or binge-drinking enormous quantities of alcohol at the weekend, doing untold damage to their bodies and brains and heading down the exact same path that I and many others travelled – to find ourselves in the depths of despair that only an addict knows.

Alcohol is a powerful and dangerous drug. Don't make the mistake of thinking that just because it is legal and easy and cheap to get hold of that it is safe. It is not. It can ruin your life and the lives of those who love you just as easily as any Class A drug. Binge-drinking is especially dangerous and is linked to many life threatening conditions such as stroke, cirrhosis, cardiovascular disease and alcohol poisoning as well as other disturbing conditions like foetal alcohol syndrome, unwanted pregnancy or injuries and death caused by fighting or car accidents.

In all my writings and other projects, despite popular belief, I don't want to spoil anybody's good time. If you enjoy alcohol and you drink it sensibly then good luck to you. I just want people to be aware of the dangers and treat alcohol with the respect it deserves.

If you don't, then it will come back to bite you one day. Just because you can walk into a pub or any corner shop or supermarket and buy it with ease does not, in my opinion, make it any less dangerous than any other drug.

So please take care out there – and be aware of what you are drinking.

Charity cash challenge is back

IF you thought you'd missed doing something funny for money you can think again and sign up for another fundraiser.

St Nicholas Hospice Care is calling for businesses across Suffolk to sign up for a summer of fun and fierce but friendly competition as it launches the fourth Towergate Accumulator Challenge.

Each business that signs up will get seed money of £50 from Towergate Insurance, which sponsors the event.

The challenge is then to turn the crisp note into as much money as can be mustered through a fundraising task of choice – which can be as loopy as you like, so long as it's legal.

Liz Spillane, hospice corporate fundraiser, said: "We want as many businesses as possible to put their thinking caps on to transform a small stake into big bucks for the hospice."

Jacobs Allen chartered accountants, of Haverhill and Bury, raised more than £9,000 to win last year with a range of events.

The three-month challenge gets under way from June 20, and it hoped that this year's participants will beat the £65,549 raised for the hospice last year.

To get involved, contact Liz Spillane on 01284 715560 or email liz.spillane@stnh.org.uk.

'Our children are still undervalued'

DEBRA FOX

THE chief executive of a Suffolk children's charity which works to unite children with parents at Highpoint prison has warned that more work needs to be done across the county to protect vulnerable families and children.

Geoff Prescott, pictured, who is leaving Ormiston Children & Families Trust after just under four years, spoke highly of the organisation's work in supporting children and young people from disadvantaged communities.

Mr Prescott thinks that Ormiston is working from every angle to meet the unmet needs of children and parents who are undervalued up and down the country.

He said: "When I joined Ormiston it was evident that the UK culturally and practically undervalued our children.

"We have the wealth, education and infrastructure to make this into one of the best places in the world to be a child.

"Yet four years on and after a change of government, children and parenting is still at the bottom of the pile."

In Suffolk, the charity is working hard to make life easier for young people and families who have relatives in prison by running a workshop in HMP Highpoint, Stradishall.

The trust runs special children and family visits which allow young ones to spend quality time playing and bonding with their relatives, as well as offering family liaison services and an innovative 'Stories with Dad' scheme.

This gives fathers the chance to read and record stories on to DVDs to send home to their children, so they can still have a bedtime story from dad.

Mr Prescott believes this and other projects run by the charity are what set Ormiston apart.

He said: "That really has been the highlight of my time here: working for an organisation where everyone is committed to making the world a better place, and everyone is here because they too believe the work that we do is so worthwhile."

The charity now has 40 projects across six counties. For more information, visit www.ormiston.org.

Guitar star

WHEN you think of classical music, what's the first instrument that comes to mind? Perhaps it's the cello, violin or piano?

The guitar is not usually top of the list. But classical guitar virtuoso Miloš Karadagli is on a mission to change all that and you can witness his special guitar magic for yourself at Cambridge Corn Exchange on Saturday, June 15, when he plays one of only three UK dates alongside the renowned English Chamber Orchestra.

Named Young Artist of the Year in the UK by the Classic Brits, Classic FM and the prestigious Gramophone magazine, Montenegro-born Miloš has single-handedly spearheaded a renaissance for the classical guitar, bringing its sound to a huge worldwide audience and redefining it as a contemporary instrument with a potentially limitless repertoire. Last summer he starred in the Proms in the Park and this was followed by a second sell-out concert at the Albert Hall a month later.

His theme from Stephen Ward, Andrew Lloyd Webber's forthcoming musical, rocketed to No 1 in the iTunes Classical Singles Chart and his special edition Latino Gold album also topped the Classical Charts.

The concert will start with Rossini's exciting Italian Girl in Algiers overture and is followed by De Falla's elemental Ritual Fire

Dances and the legendary Rodrigo Guitar Concerto Aranjuez, the most famous and best-loved guitar concerto written.

In the second half, Miloš will perform Piazzolla's highly-evocative Libertango arranged for solo guitar and orchestra, which will appeal not only to classical music fans but also to lovers of tango or flamenco music. The evening will be brought to a rousing conclusion with Mendelssohn's much loved Italian symphony.

■ Miloš Karadagli, Cambridge Corn Exchange, Saturday, June 15 at 7.30pm. Tickets £25-£34 from (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk

A dark musical

A BLEND of folk, gospel, pop-rock and R&B rolls through the tough subject matter of Tony Award-winning musical Parade.

Set in Georgia in 1913, it tells the true story of Leo Frank, a Brooklyn-born Jewish factory supervisor accused and convicted of the murder and rape of 13-year-old employee Mary Phagan. As the trial spiralled into a media frenzy, Frank's death sentence was commuted to life in prison but he was kidnapped and hanged by a lynch mob en route to jail.

The case led to the return of the Ku Klux Klan, the formation of the Jewish Anti-Defamation League and laid ground for the future Civil Rights Movement.

So how do you fit all that anger and racial tension into a musical theatre production? Safe to say expect a rather dark and haunting evening at the ADC, topped off with murder mystery and courtroom drama – although there's a bit of love story wrangled in too.

Composed by Jason Robert Brown, the show is being put on by Cambridge's Festival Players, the troupe behind The Producers and Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street.

Director Suzanne Emerson said: "Parade is very different from a great deal of the musical theatre genre. It deals with real people involved in very complex and conflicted situations. Although the subject matter may be daunting, what convinced us to take this on was the sheer range and brilliance of the music which is used to tell the story, and the chance to offer something genuinely thought-provoking to the audience."

film of the week

WILL Smith and son Jaden share the screen for the first time since the 2006 drama The Pursuit of Happyness in this big budget sci-fi adventure directed by M Night Shyamalan.

In the distant future Earth is a devastated wasteland, uninhabited by humans who have relocated to Nova Prime in another solar system.

A peacekeeping force known as The Ranger Corps protects this new community, led by valiant General Cypher Raige (Will Smith) who pioneered a way to overcome fear and who leads the humans to victory against a vicious race of aliens called the S'krell.

Cypher's son Kitai (Jaden Smith) trains to become a

certificate 12A, 1h40m

member of The Ranger Corps in order to impress his father and assuage his guilt about the death of his sister, Senshi (Zoe Kravitz).

While Cypher is level-headed, Kitai is impetuous and reckless and his application is rejected. So Cypher's wife Faia (Sophie Okonedo) implores her husband to bond with Kitai during a voyage into space but the subsequent mission almost ends in disaster and father and son become stranded on Earth at the mercy of the voracious creatures which now call the desolate planet home.

Gifts galore

IF your dad wants to make the most of the garden in so-called 'flaming June' and beyond, then you can make his Father's Day by buying him a gift which will make his job easier or simply make him smile.

Top of the list must be Hozelock's new Flexi Spray, the winning garden product of this year's RHS Chelsea Flower Show. It's a terrific multi-purpose watering attachment which can be moulded into an array of shapes for different watering functions, from stretching to hanging baskets, to shaping to use as a lawn spray. Available from DIY stores, leading garden centres and specialist retailers, RRP £29.99.

Among the most practical presents for the keen, active gardener is the Bosch AMW 10 Multi-tool, an all-in-one device for tackling unruly lawn edges, dishevelled trees and unkempt hedges. The 1000w motor will allow users to cut through thick twigs and branches, while the attachment heads can be changed easily, without the need for additional tools.

It will be a great help if your dad has trouble reaching high hedges, as it's capable of cutting overhead with the 180-degree-angle hedgecutter, trimming stubborn growth with the heavy-duty trimmer and pruning overhead branches with the pole pruner. The motor unit retails from £79.99, the hedgecutter attachment from £69.99, the pole pruner attachment from £69.99 and the heavy duty trimmer attachment from £59.99. The complete kit is available from £199.99 from selected retailers. For details, visit www.bosch.co.uk

Those who are on a tight budget may prefer to go for more frivolous gifts which look great and do a fine job in the garden. House of Bath sells a delightful Robin Teapot Nester, an open nesting site made from a frost-resistant ceramic teapot with a lovely rustic finish that robins, flycatchers, wrens and wagtails will love. Priced £16.95 from www.houseofbath.co.uk or phone 0871 230 0867.

It was news last week that the Chelsea Flower Show was lifting its ban on gnomes, so if they're good enough for the RHS, they're good enough for dad and there's some pretty funky gnomes on the market. My favourite is Woodland Wilf Born To Be Wild, a pint-sized figure sitting on a motorbike. It's frostproof, weather resistant and features a solar light as its headlamp. Every dad should have one. RRP £19.99. For stockists details, visit www.woodlandwilf.co.uk or phone 01905 791 984.

Outdoorsy dads will have a laugh flicking through a useful manual entitled Be Prepared: How To Light A Wet Match And 199 Other Useful Things To Know, drawn from the archives of the Scout Association, with a foreword by Bear Grylls. It offers advice on the right way to hold an eel, wield an axe or string a hammock and offers tips on how to survive in the wild, predict the weather or shine at a party. Published by Simon & Schuster, priced £14.99.

If the little ones want to buy something they can do with their dad, look no further than Seed Pantry's delightful new Dad And Me Veg Seeds starter pack, designed for allotments and containing a fantastic selection of 10 easy-to-grow summer season vegetable seeds, including two gourmet lettuce varieties, chard, spinach, tumbling tomatoes, carrots, sweet peppers, French beans, tasty courgettes and Italian beetroot.

Younger gardeners grow four varieties of vegetables and herbs – sweetcorn, cress, pumpkins and sunflowers – and the packs contain all the equipment you need to get started, including mini propagators, bio-degradable rice husk pots, coir coconut husk pots, seed tray, organic mini compost disks, dibble and seedling markers. The starter pack is priced at £48.75 and available from www.seedpantry.co.uk.

Sharp tools can make or break a gardening task, so if he needs a new pruning tool, treat him to the newly launched Fiskars Quantum bypass pruner, which has a comfortable cork handle, superior blades and a smooth, light and strong aluminium body. Available nationwide in garden centres, DIY stores and online. RRP £54.99. For more information, go to www.fiskars.co.uk

We are all being told to encourage beneficial insects to our gardens and it is hoped the ChapelWood Bee Box will do just that. Made from FSC cedar, it provides an ideal and safe habitat for bees which will hopefully pollinate more of dad's homegrown fruit and veg. Priced £12.99, stockists details on 01905 791 984 or visit www.chapelwoodwildlife.co.uk

Dads who want to add a little life and soul to their outdoor party may love the innovative Speaker Blanket from Spinning Hat, a fold-away picnic blanket which houses an AA battery-operated music system into a fold away picnic blanket. The gadget comes with a 3.5mm headphone jack connection, enabling users to plug in their portable music player or smartphone. When they're finished with the mat, it can be rolled up with the speakers attached and comes with a handle for carrying ease. RRP 34.99, from www.spinninghat.com and www.iwoot.com

Bard Pharmaceuticals
LimitedOur vacancies in Cambridge

Bard Pharmaceuticals Limited is the Production and Supply Chain business of the Napp Pharmaceutical Group. We have a collaborative approach to business and a strong track record in manufacturing innovative treatments that make a difference to patients' lives.

We have great products, modern technology, outstanding facilities and, more importantly, highly talented people who make our company one of the best employers and places to work. We are committed to providing our employees with excellent training and development opportunities and we are currently looking for some exceptional individuals to come and join us:

Training and Development Administrator - Part-time,
12 month STC - 15 hours per week (Ref: MM2)

Working Monday to Friday, ideally 3 hours per day you will provide Training and Development administration support which will include: planning and scheduling of events, designing materials and assisting with full administration for events.

Applicants should have experience of working within a similar role. You should possess excellent communication skills, both verbal and written combined with strong administration and organisational expertise. Attention to detail is essential along with the ability to manage your workload in order to meet deadlines.

Trainee Technician, Granulation - Night shift, 6 month STC (Ref: CM7)

You will contribute to the operations of the Granulation department by working within a team which manufactures pharmaceutical products. You will work closely with others to ensure that agreed production programmes are completed on time whilst meeting the highest standards of GMP and Health & Safety.

Night shift hours are 9.00 pm to 6.45 am, Monday to Thursday each week.

Analytical Opportunities (Ref: AD/KS)

We have a number of analytical opportunities coming up in the near future in our busy Quality Control and Stability laboratories. The roles involve analysing finished products, stability studies, intermediates and raw materials in accordance with the product marketing authorisation licence. You will use a variety of techniques ranging from HPLC to Robotics.

You will have the ability to plan and organise your work, review raw data critically and you should possess good communication skills in order to liaise with both internal and external customers.
Applicants should have a pharmaceutical analytical background (a minimum of HNC or equivalent relevant experience is required).

We provide excellent salaries and benefits. For full details of these vacancies or to apply online, please visit the 'Vacancies at Napp' section on the JUNIOR captain Michael Perrett has had a successful week at Haverhill Golf Club.

In the Junior Spring Cup medal, he fired gross 68, nett 65 to beat Edward Halpin, who shot gross 87, on countback.

Third place went to Nicole Pike with gross 96, nett 69.

In the stableford, Ben Bradnam was victorious with 37 points on countback from Joshua Hulyer. Fiona Stokes was third on countback with 32.

Perrett maintained his form to card gross 69, nett 65 to win the scratch and handicap prize in Haverhill's Junior Open.

The runner-up in the handicap was Jude Everitt with gross 80, nett 66.

Billy Bush was triumphant in the stableford with 33 points, two clear of Hintlesham's Alex Watkins. Great Hadham's George Durkan won the 10-hole stableford with 30 points, 10 clear of Haverhill's Tom Turner.

■ Organiser Doreen Darbey and guest Marion McDonald won the Ladies Invitation Day event at Haverhill Golf Club.

They scored 37 points to finish one clear of Marian Kendall and Pam Madams. Eileen Kiddy and Greta Barclay were third on countback with 35. Jackie Drew won the prizes for nearest the pin and longest drive.

Catie Heathfield was the winner of the ladies' Saturday Medal with gross 99, nett 75. Jackie Condon was second with nett 78 - and the lowest gross score of 95 - and Pauline Calmet was third with nett 80.

Charlie Tapp and Ernie Lloyd scored 40 points to win the Seniors' Open at Newton Green, finishing one clear of fellow Haverhill members Bill Lancee and Alastair Cocks.

Jason Lunness was the clear winner of the Men's Medal & Cecil Darken Trophy, third leg as he slashed his handicap by three shots to 14.

His superb round of gross 80, nett 63 saw him take Division Two, and be crowned the overall winner, by four shots from Tony Weller. Matthew Farlie claimed Division One with gross 76, nett 67 to finish one ahead of Steve Nichols.

Kelvin Ellam was first in Division Three with gross 97, nett 73, beating Kieron Bailey by one.

Russell Gritty was the winner of the Cecil Darken Trophy as his best two rounds of 68 and 69 - from legs contested in April, May and June - saw him finish with 137. Garry Baird was second with 141 (71, 70).

Haverhill won 4 1/2 - 1 1/2 in the Junior Team Handicap Cup against Ipswich Golf Club (Purdie Heath), the ladies' team triumphed 5-4 against Fynn Valley in the Cranworth Cup and a mixed side beat Girton 6-2 in a friendly.

He's no ordinary Joe

JOE Woodley snapped up 4 for 51 when Haverhill saw off Witham by five wickets in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

The visitors put 187 for 9 on the board, and then Luke Youngs and Dan Poole, who were unbeaten on 36 and 39 respectively, steered Haverhill to 190 for 5.

Haverhill III lost out in a close contest against Lakenheath II in Division 8W.

Liam Savage scored 66 as Haverhill posted 148 for 6.

Lakenheath's innings got off to a good start with their openers J Tuffs and M Minter setting a solid foundation, with Minter bowled by Liam Savage one run shy of his 50.

Although Haverhill bowlers Will Bailey, Liam Savage and Rob Sullivan were all taking wickets the visitor's kept pushing the score along and eventually reached their target to win by three wickets with two overs to spare.

■ A very young Haverhill under-11s side suffered a 42-run loss at Hundon in a Borders League fixture.

Hundon batted first and scored freely, amassing 75 runs in 20 overs, though some good work in the field from the visitors helped keep the score lower than it could have been.

In reply, Haverhill were always in trouble and lost too many wickets early on. They struggled to score runs and tight bowling and good fielding by Hundon restricted them to just 33 runs.

Thurlow youngsters pick up their awards

THURLOW held their end of season presentation for under-eights and under-nines at Thurlow Sports Pavilion.

Councillor Anne Gower presented the individual trophies and also inspected the work done on refurbishing the showers and wash basin taps in the toilets of the Sports Pavilion that she had helped fund with £500 from her Suffolk County Council Locality Budget.

Former Suffolk County Councillor Jane Midwood had also made an award of £378 from her Locality Budget before she recently retired from office.

Further contributions towards the project were received from Havebury Housing Partnership (£500) and St Edmundsbury Borough Council Rural Initiatives Grant Scheme (£1,600).

Allan Loveday, secretary of Thurlow Sports Club, said his committee were very grateful for this funding which totalled nearly £3,000, with the remainder being met by the sports club's own funds.

■ Thurlow under-10s are looking for players for next season.

The youngsters' birthdays need to be between September 1, 2003 and August 31, 2004.

League accepts Haverhill entry

HAVERHILL Sports Association have been accepted into the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division for the 2013/14 season.

The club, who competed in the Essex and Suffolk Border League last year but also reached the third round of the FA Vase, has been renamed Haverhill Borough and will share the New Croft with Haverhill Rovers after signing an agreement with the Haverhill Community Sports Association.

The team, managed by Ben Cowling, will begin their pre-season programme against Tollesbury on July 13 with their league campaign getting under way on August 10.

Seb and Matt put on a four-some display

SEB Schmidt and Matt Schellhaus both scored four runs as Haverhill Blackjacks thrashed Essex Archers 14-4 at home in British Baseball League A, South Pool B.

Archers had beaten Haverhill in their first game of the season, but after going a run down, Schmidt, Ryan Pflug and Gareth Francis combined to put the hosts 3-1 up after the first innings.

Essex levelled at 3-3 after dominating the second inning, but from there it was all Blackjacks.

Schellhaus took control with his pitching, besides scoring runs along with Jarred Esstenson and Paul Warner, to put them 6-3 ahead after three innings.

Schmidt and Schellhaus extended Haverhill's lead to 8-4 after four innings and both added a run apiece in the sixth and seventh innings.

It was left to Sean Goodwin and Dan Grimwood to wrap things up in the seventh innings with Archers conceding after going 10 runs behind.
